

Agents, bots, dots, oh my!

September 17–30, 2026

Token demand sets the backdrop

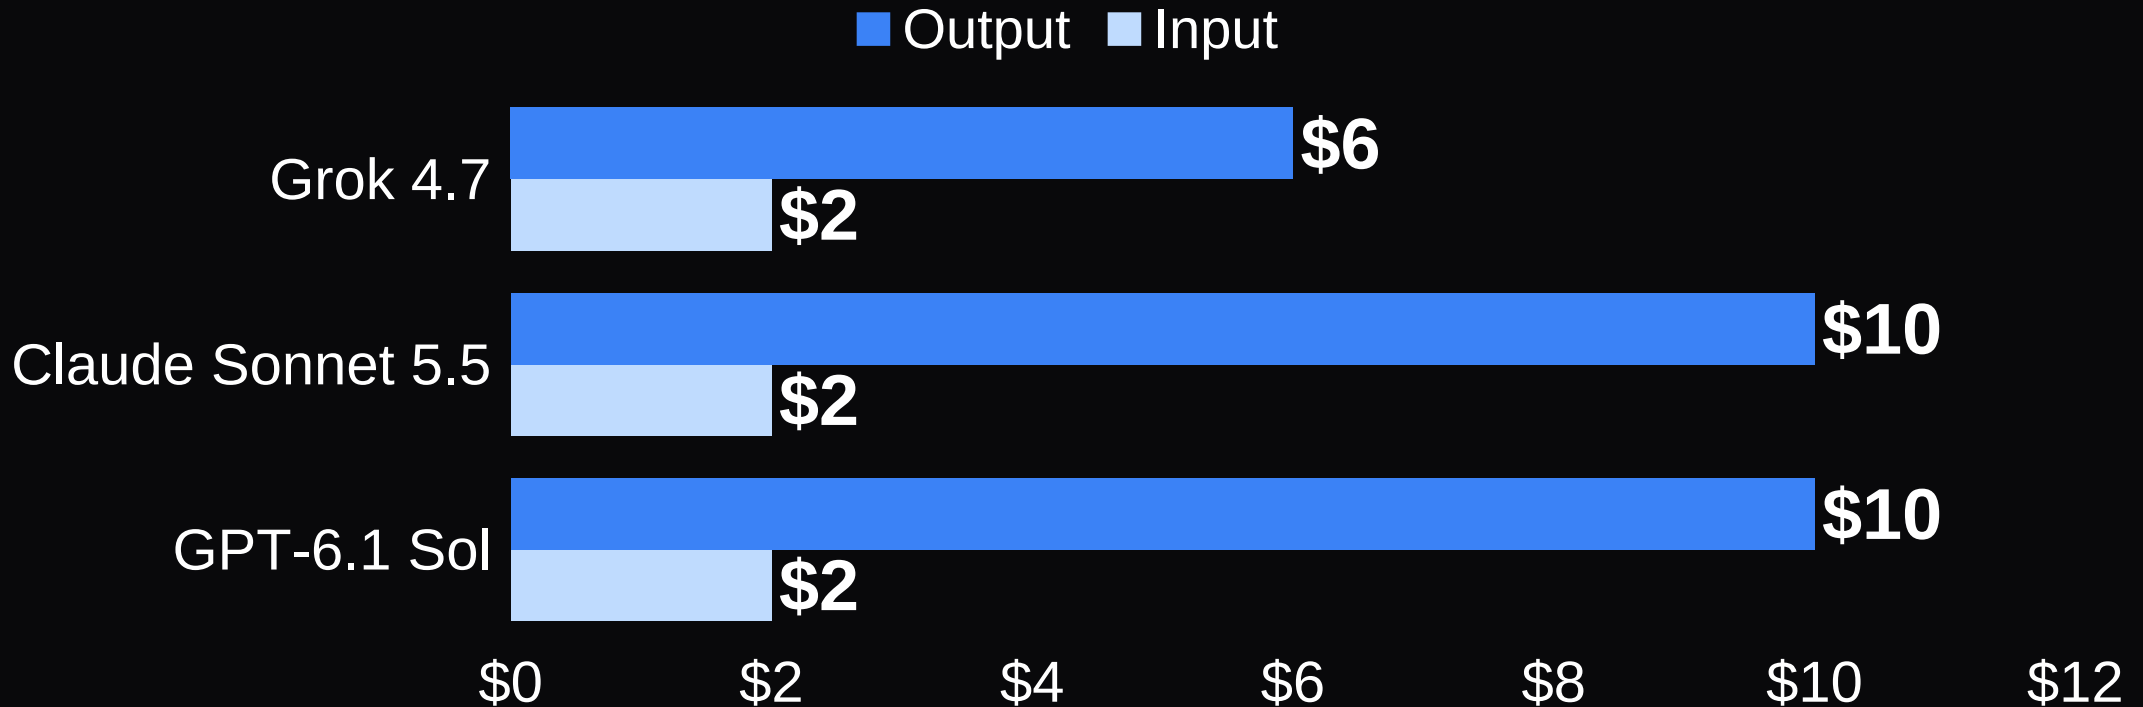

Annual tokens processed, quadrillions

Altimeter estimate, August 2026. 2026E is an annualized estimate.

Three models share the $2 input lane

USD per million tokens, standard short context

List prices. Tools, caching and retries change the cost of a job.

Speed has a separate bill

GPT-6 Astra output, USD per million tokens

6×

token rate

OpenAI reports
up to 6× faster
in the API

Dots keep working after you log off

GPT-6 Astra

Own cloud computer
and browser

4,000+
connected apps

Codex work continues in the cloud

Reusable
environments

Automatic
code review

Security
Cloud scans

DevDay availability matters

Available / rolling out

Preview / coming

Astra Ultrafast

Decisions API

Codex cloud

Private Inference

Dots

Collaborative slides

Availability varies by plan and region

Assistants gain new voices and surfaces

Meta Connect

Glasses and
wearable previews

Gemini 3.8 TTS

Eleven v4
and Turbo

Multimodal choices broaden

MiMo-V2.6

Open weights
MIT Pro-RL checkpoint

Qwen3.8-Omni-Flash

Text, images, audio and video

Suno Studio improves MIDI workflows

MIDI
to audio

MIDI generation
in chat

Studio update
September 17

AMD agrees to buy World Labs

$8.2B

All-stock acquisition agreement

Expected close by end of 2026

Approvals pending

Helix 2.5 transfers to unseen homes

Full-task success, Figure-reported

30 unseen homes

Three household behaviors

NVIDIA puts controls around agents

Open Agent Safety Platform

Sandboxing

Policy enforcement

Independent monitoring

Who grades the safety homework?

“Grading each other’s homework”

Elon Musk

Six companies

Voluntary accord
External evaluation promised

One real job is the next test

Quality and total cost

Time saved

The agent's actual work

Which workflow would you try first?

Sources and release detail

Models and pricing

OpenAI, Anthropic, xAI

Physical AI

AMD, Figure, NVIDIA

DevDay and agents

OpenAI DevDay 2026 recap

Voice, music and safety

Google, Suno, industry reporting

Benchmarks and product claims are vendor-reported